

Keep Loudoun Beautiful

If someone in Loudoun took a look around, the first thing that would come to their mind is, “Wow! Loudoun is so beautiful.” But every time somebody throws wrappers on the ground or lets fertilizer run into the creeks, it makes Loudoun less attractive. So to keep this place looking its best, we need to recycle, pick up litter, and plant trees and flowers. But most of all, we need to tell other people to participate. If every one pitches in and helps, Loudoun will always be beautiful.

There are some things we need to do to keep Loudoun looking its greatest. First, people need to stop littering and pick-up trash. Also we should recycle. And last but not least, we need to plant trees, flowers, and other plants to keep Loudoun looking beautiful.

One of the most important things about how to keep Loudoun beautiful is telling others to help out. One person can do something, but a group of people can make a real difference. Host a “Clean Up the Community Day” in your neighborhood or take your club out to plant trees and flowers. Loudoun is a beautiful place, and working together will keep it that way.
